

Changes for Chanukah

Note that there are several davening time changes for Chanukah. See the schedules on this page and page 2. Friday Night in the main shul will be Carlebach-lite Kabbalas Shabbos.

Nedivim

Apropos of the very recent healing of my foot, B.H., I have chosen to use this Chanukah (l'hodos u'lehalel) to celebrate and give gratitude for a bit over a year of excruciating pain (which taught me about taking care of one's body), and the healing that HaShem sent my way. A Nedivim donation is being made to the Shul and to Torah Programming, with deepest appreciation and gratefulness.

RCZM

Lifecycles

מזל טוב!! מזל טוב!!

Mazel Tov to Dov and Lauren Greenberg on the bris of their son. (Unfortunately, we went to press before the baby was named, so mazel tov to ploni ben Mordechai Dov!)

Shabbos Navi Shiur

Join Rav Malinowitz on Shabbos morning at 7:25 as he brings the Navi to life! This week the Rav continues with Daniel Chapter 5:

THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

Shabbos Oneg

Join the Rav and the Chevra for a "Chanukah-themed" Leil Shabbos Oneg.

At the Bornstein's home, Luz 7/3.

What's a "Chanukah-theme?" Well, we're not really sure, but certainly things related to Gevura, Hodaah, Nissim, and most likely loaded with sugar and oil!

This Friday night, starting at 8:30pm.

Transforming Tragedy into Personal and National Growth

Rabbi Shabse Werther, a Rebbe and educator from Lakewood and presently a resident in Ramat Beit Shemesh, will share with us his experiences in dealing with the loss of the tenth of his eleven sons, Sholom B'nayahu, ob'm, at the age of seventeen.

Shortly before his sudden death, Sholom shared, with uncharacteristic passion, a d'var Torah with his family explaining how the Jewish People are similar to an olive – Zayis Raanan. The theme of the d'var Torah - Zayis Raanan - is the basis for numerous messages of consolation and renewal that Rabbi Werther and his family absorbed from many sources in Tanach, Talmud, and Tefillah subsequent to Sholom's passing. The messages were so profound and numerous that they led to the publication of a book named, appropriately, Zayis Raanan: The Gift of the Fresh Olive.

Rabbi Werther has inspired audiences across the United States by sharing the message of how, even in times of difficulty and challenge, HaShem has a loving plan for each of us individually, and for all of us as a nation. As we approach the Tenth of Teves, the first fast of the year in mourning for the Beis haMikdash, Rabbi Werther will share with us how to view tragedy and setback as a means of personal growth and spiritual development.

The presentation will take place, IY"H, at BTYA on Motzoei Shabbos of Parshas VaYigash, December 7, at 8:30pm. Admission is free and the book, Zayis Raanan, will be available for purchase for 50₪.
