THIS MOTZA'EI SHABBOS:
Transforming Tragedy into Personal and National Growth

In Time For Asara B'Teves

Rabbi Shabse Werther, a Rebbe and educator from Lakewood and presently a resident in Ramat Beit Shemesh, will share with us his experiences in dealing with the loss of the tenth of his eleven sons, Sholom B'nayahu, ob'm, at the age of seventeen.

Shortly before his sudden death, Sholom shared, with uncharacteristic passion, a d'var Torah with his family explaining how the Jewish People are similar to an olive – Zayis Raanan. The theme of the d'var Torah - Zayis Raanan - is the basis for numerous messages of consolation and renewal that Rabbi Werther and his family absorbed from many sources in Tanach, Talmud, and Tefillah subsequent to Sholom's passing. The messages were so profound and numerous that they led to the publication of a book named, appropriately, Zayis Raanan: The Gift of the Fresh Olive.

Rabbi Werther has inspired audiences across the United States by sharing the message of how, even in times of difficulty and challenge, HaShem has a loving plan for each of us individually, and for all of us as a nation. As we approach the Tenth of Teves, the first fast of the year in mourning for the Beis haMikdash, Rabbi Werther will share with us how to view tragedy and setback as a means of personal growth and spiritual development.

The presentation will take place, IY"H, at BTYA this Motza'ei Shabbos, December 7, at 8:30pm. Admission is free and the book, Zayis Raanan, will be available for purchase for 50₪.
