

The Rav Is Away

Due to certain obligations on Friday (i.e, mitzvohs hayom) Rav Malinowitz and the Rebbetzin will not be in RBSA this Shabbos.

"Late Maariv" Begins

As a service to the community, the late Leil Shabbos ma'ariv minyan (9 PM) is starting this week. Note that BTYA practice is to keep the Kehillah together as long as possible, so there will only be one Kabbolos Shabbos minyan, starting 20 minutes before Sh'kiah, until after Pesach.

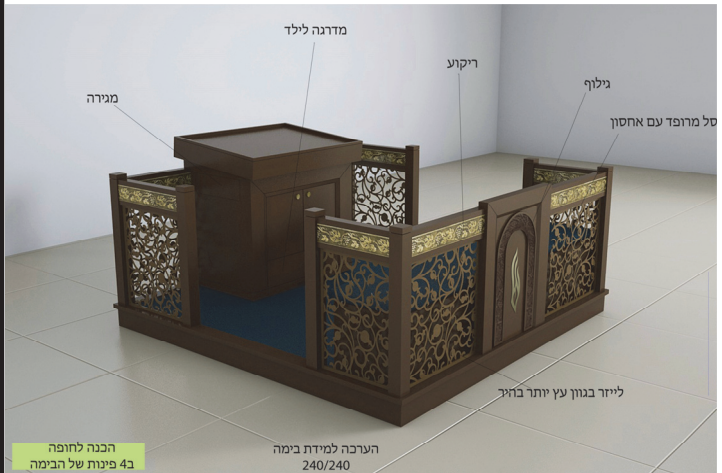

Purim Thank You TO the Neshei

BTYA is immensely appreciative of the Neshei for many projects that they do—the Purim Shalach Manos at the top of the list. We thank you so much for helping us, and for showing the "guys" how things should be done! We all loved the smartly designed shalach manos packages you made this year (which we can now show in the newsletter), and we appreciate all the creative work that went into making it!

The Bimah is Underway

The BTYA bimah is really happening. With very quick progress, under the leadership of R' Rafael Sait and team, the BTYA bimah has been ordered. The picture is not the final look, but it's pretty close.

We hoped to have it before the Yamim Noraim, but it could be in much sooner than that, IY"H.

Several people expressed interest in the amud, and that project is still underway. In addition, we are working on a respectful floor covering/carpet for the steps up to the aron kodesh.

Vasikin News

Thank you to Avi Saffer for leining the Megilla for us this year.

Cholent Advisory: No Kiddush this week!

Daf Yomi Review

If you would love to be counted among the thousands that are privileged to be in the flow of the daf, but the commitment to chazara is too intense, perhaps you would be interested in starting your week with a review of the "highlights" of last week's dapim.

Sunday mornings, one hour, 8-9am in the "vasikin room" upstairs, Edo Lavi will be reviewing the dapim from the previous week. Class begins this coming Sunday with the very beginning of masechet kiddushin. The level of the material is geared for beginners and above. Prior exposure to the daf is NOT required.
