

Thinking of Hashem

A suggestion inspired by the Rav's Yom Kippur drasha to help with shivisi Hashem and shmiras einayim: Put the sheish mitzvos tamidi'os on your smart phone screen lock and wallpaper. You probably look at it dozens of times a day!

1. Know that HaShem is the Creator and Master and Enabler of All.
2. Do not think there is another independent power.
3. Know that HaShem is the only One, Unique and Complete.
4. Love Him.
5. Fear Him.
6. Do not be misled by your own wants and desires.

Shabbos Project Feedback

A number of the guests have already sent us their feedback:

"This Shabbat was an amazing experience, it was totally what I needed. I met so many amazing people, everyone was so sweet and welcoming. It made this Shabbos one to remember."

"The Shabbat experience was extremely organized, which allowed me to feel relaxed, inspired, and stimulated the whole weekend. I had not had the chance to feel that complete and relaxed on Shabbat in a long time. It was a lovely experience that I'll keep with me forever."

"The Shabbat program was wonderful! Rabbi Bryks was so organized and passionate. Our host family, was so warm and welcoming, providing a relaxed and supportive environment in which to disconnect from the world and connect to Shabbat."

"Being a part of the Shabbat project was a huge gift. It was truly amazing to meet those who were observing their first Shabbos and those who were already observant or Shomer Shabbos coming together. The families were great and the events put together truly made me remember the meaning of Shabbos."

"Amazing Shabbat bringing so many beautiful souls together from all different walks of life. I grew so much in just two days. It was one for the books."

"The Shabbat project brought to me more of an awareness of the beauty of Shabbat and the beauty of the Jewish people. I had such a beautiful Shabbat I feel I can bring with me into my week. I heard over Shabbat, when you don't keep the seventh day of the week, it makes one weak!"

The BTYA Shabbos Project committee would like to thank the Rav, the Shul and the entire community for making the event so successful!
